■ Jake Gyllenhaal (below) may soon collect an awfully big paycheck as America's latest superhero. We hear New Line execs are keen to have the "Brokeback Mountain" hunk play Captain Marvel in "Shazam!" Based on the DC comic, the movie is New Line's bid for a franchise on the order of "Batman" and "Superman." "They're ready to spend up to $200 million to get it started," an insider tells us. Sources say director Peter Segal and his fellow producers want to nab Gyllenhaal before "Spider-Man" director Sam Raimi does — with "Spider-Man 3" due to open on May 4, star Tobey Maguire has said he may let someone else play the web slinger.

■ Kid Rock has replaced one blond Anderson with another. Pam's ex toted around Danish supermodel May Anderson backstage at the Rock and Roll Hall of Fame awards Monday night, where the sexy stunner told us they're "friends." Meanwhile, R.E.M. front man Michael Stipe visited the gift lounge for some freebies, but refused to sign a Red Engine denim poster in silver marker like the rest of his band. He told the denim reps, "I sign in black." Sammy Hagar dropped trou in the middle of the Red Engine denim lounge so he could be measured for jeans. He's still rocking a 34-inch waist ... And Keith Richards, who seemed to still be dressed in his swashbuckling garb from "Pirates of the Caribbean 3," recalled the last moments he spent with legendary Atlantic Records founder Ahmet Ertegun: "I'm just sorry I asked Ahmet to rub my head when he asked me about my fall, because 10 minutes later, he took a fall himself." (Ertegun slipped backstage at a Rolling Stones concert in October and died from complications two months later).

■ We know why Paris Hilton grew up to be Hollywood's wild child — her dad's a big softie. "I was stricter with the boys, I think," Rick Hilton told us at the Women's Project Gala at the Rainbow Room Monday. "I probably spoil my girls more." So does Mom crack the whip? "You play good cop, bad cop," Kathy Hilton told us, "but usually we try to agree. And now [Paris and Nicky] are over 21. They're 26 and 23." So what's the best parental advice? Says Daddy Hilton, "Know who you're getting involved with."

■ Monica Lewinsky, Birkin bag close by, dined with an elegant, silver-haired gentleman — no, not that one — at La Gouluie Monday night.

■ Lloyd, whose single "You" is No. 13 on the charts, outshined other performers at the Hot 97 fashion show with his lit-up blue Jezign sneakers.

■ Nicole Kidman won't appear on "Nip/Tuck," despite creator Ryan Murphy's claim that "she's coming." "That rumor is not true," Kidman's rep told us.

■ Vibe magazine will celebrate its 150th issue Monday night at Cipriani with "La Di Da Di"
